In chemistry, an ionic compound is a chemical compound composed of ions held together by electrostatic forces termed ionic bonding. The compound is neutral overall, but consists of positively charged ions called cations and negatively charged ions called anions. These can be simple ions such as the sodium (Na^+) and chloride (Cl^-) in sodium chloride, or polyatomic species such as the ammonium ...

In organometallic chemistry, a sandwich compound is a chemical compound featuring a metal bound by haptic covalent bonds to two arene ligands. The arenes have the formula C_nH_n , substituted derivatives (for example $\text{C}_n(\text{CH}_3)_n$) and heterocyclic derivatives (for example $\text{BC}_n\text{H}_{n+1}$). Because the metal is usually situated between the two rings, it is said to be "sandwiched".
